LIFE OF PARTY ENTERS POLITICS

N. Scott Confident of Party's Win

Blushingly Tells
 All

"Give me liberty, or give me a cherry coke." In these few magnificent words, Life of the Party's candidates for President of the Associated students for the college year 1935 expressed not only the fears, joys, sorrows, faiths, hopes, charities, ambitions and inhibitions of the student body, but the true meaning of life. Rome was not conquered before it was hatched. Neither does it spin, though at times it may weave a bit especially on Saturday nights.

But to proceed and to omit such proceedings from the proceedings, we shall proceed to extenuate to you the unprecedented qualifications of the Life of the Party's candidates for public office.

Ben Grynn to you, Penguin to the proletariat, is a man emulating the highest ideals of virile manhood. As a president, he will make a first class ----, well President. Nothing further need be said. If there is Ben will say it.

Kenneth Norriss, the outstanding candidate for vice-president, is a match for any man in brains, personality, leadership, etc. He is Monterey's ideal, the peoples Cherce Little Orphan Annie Salyer will be the secretary of secretaries. She can not only see well and hear well, but she writes so anyone can read it. She uses the typewriter.

Nothing need be said of Honest Stan Schooler, who will be next years treasurer. He will cover all the necessary ground with ease.
